Title The Undetected Rapist
Author(s) David Lisak
Publisher National Judicial Education Program
Year 2000 Length Format video
Abstract This videotape is the reenactment of pieces of interviews conducted by Dr. Lisak, the Director of Men's Sexual Trauma Research Center at the University of Massachusetts at Boston, with fraternity members during one of his studies of sexually predatory male behavior. In it, a college male explains how unsuspecting women are targeted for intoxication and rape by members of the fraternity. He uses words like "target" and "prey" to refer to the women. After dehumanizing their victims with this language, he then blames them for their own victimization. The interview indicates that these rapes are a regular occurrence on and off campus, and the rapists are usually never detected, much less punished in any way. The video closes with an analysis of the interview and the interviewee, including the tones and meanings of the language the fraternity member used to describe the rape behavior, by Dr. Lisak.

Title What a Girl Wants
Author(s)
Publisher Media Education Foundation
Year Length 33 min Format DVD
Abstract During the Spring of 2000, eleven girls aged 8 to 16 from a variety of socio-economic backgrounds and two classrooms of middle and high school students were interviewed about the views on media culture and its impact on their lives. Their insightful and provocative responses provide the central theme of the film, a half-hour examination of how the media represents girls. Juxtaposing footage culled from a typical week of television broadcasting with original interviews, What a Girl Wants will provoke debate and, ideally, act as a catalyst for change in media content. Sections: Intro; Teen Products; Premature Toothpicks; Big Ones; Get the Guy; Follow the Leader; Booty Videos; Hey, Let's Have Sex; I Could Be Your Daughter; All Girls Got Killed.
